We need any medical professional willing to work primary health situations in the flood areas of South Asia. We need two teams that can work in a mountainous and remote area. We will need at least four workers per team. You will be working with field personnel and other partners who will put you in excellent position to serve those who are being devastated by the worst flood in living memory for this entire region, and your work will position these field workers to do tremendous follow up after the immediate disaster has passed. The flood has displaced and affected more people than the Indonesian Tsunami.
